BY SOLVING THE PUZZLE

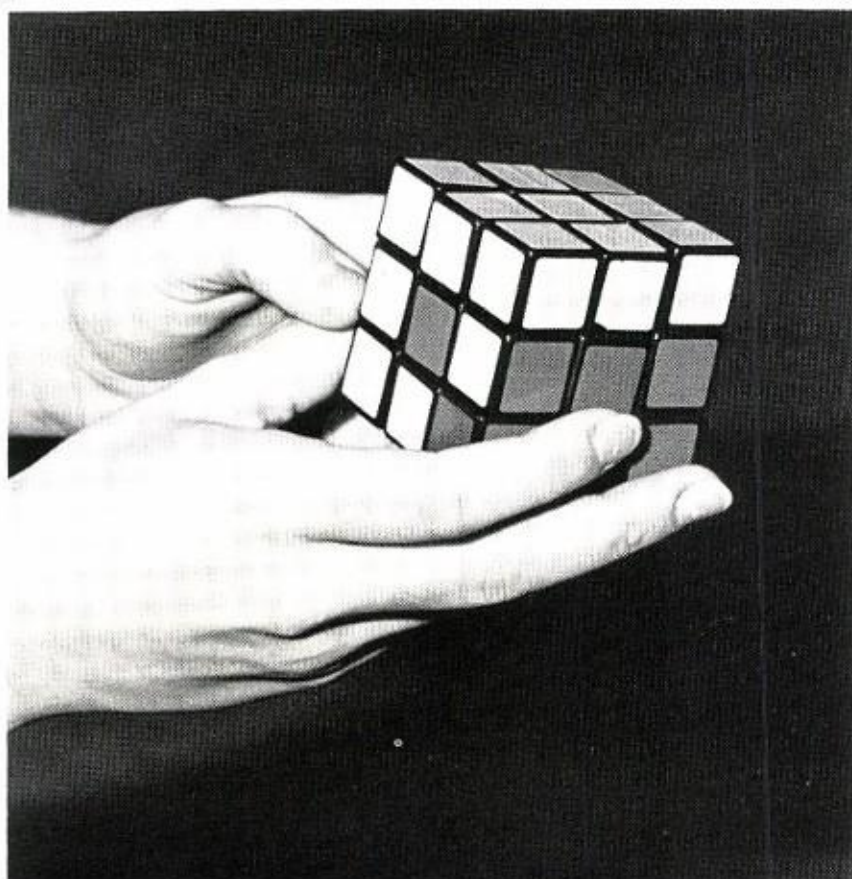

All of our life is a puzzle.
All of us, each and every day,
must solve our own problems,
assembling our skills and knowledge into a workable solution. Each experience we have, good or bad, fits in somewhere.

Many times our own abilities are not enough—the puzzle seems too big, too complicated, to be solved alone. That's when we can turn to our friends who can add a piece, show us where to start, or just encourage us when we've lost patience.

WE ASSEMBLE
FUTURE

Sometimes we're not sure where something fits in—how it will affect our future. Will it fit in later, or will we have to rearrange other pieces now to make sense of the whole thing? Unfortunately, we may never know if our decision was the right one.

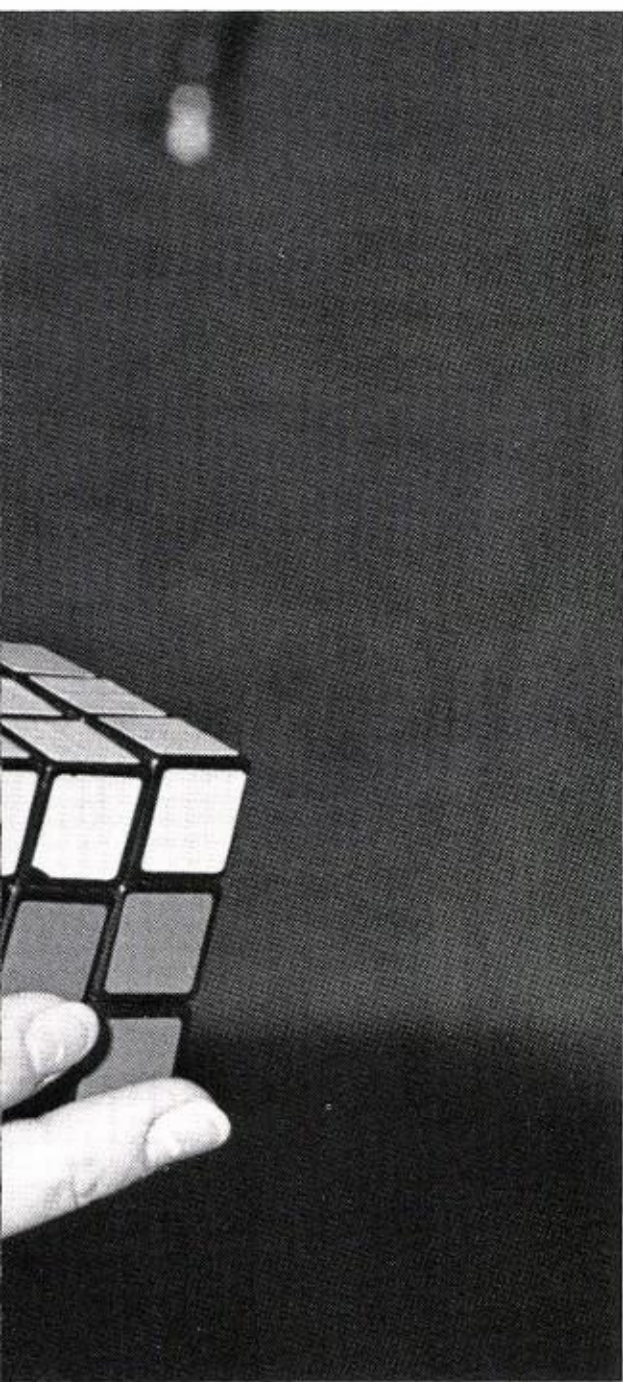

Once in a while, when we are working toward a solution, we may be sure we are following the right road to the answer. But when we find the answer, we may discover that it was not the solution we expected—that the answer, though right, may not make sense at the time.

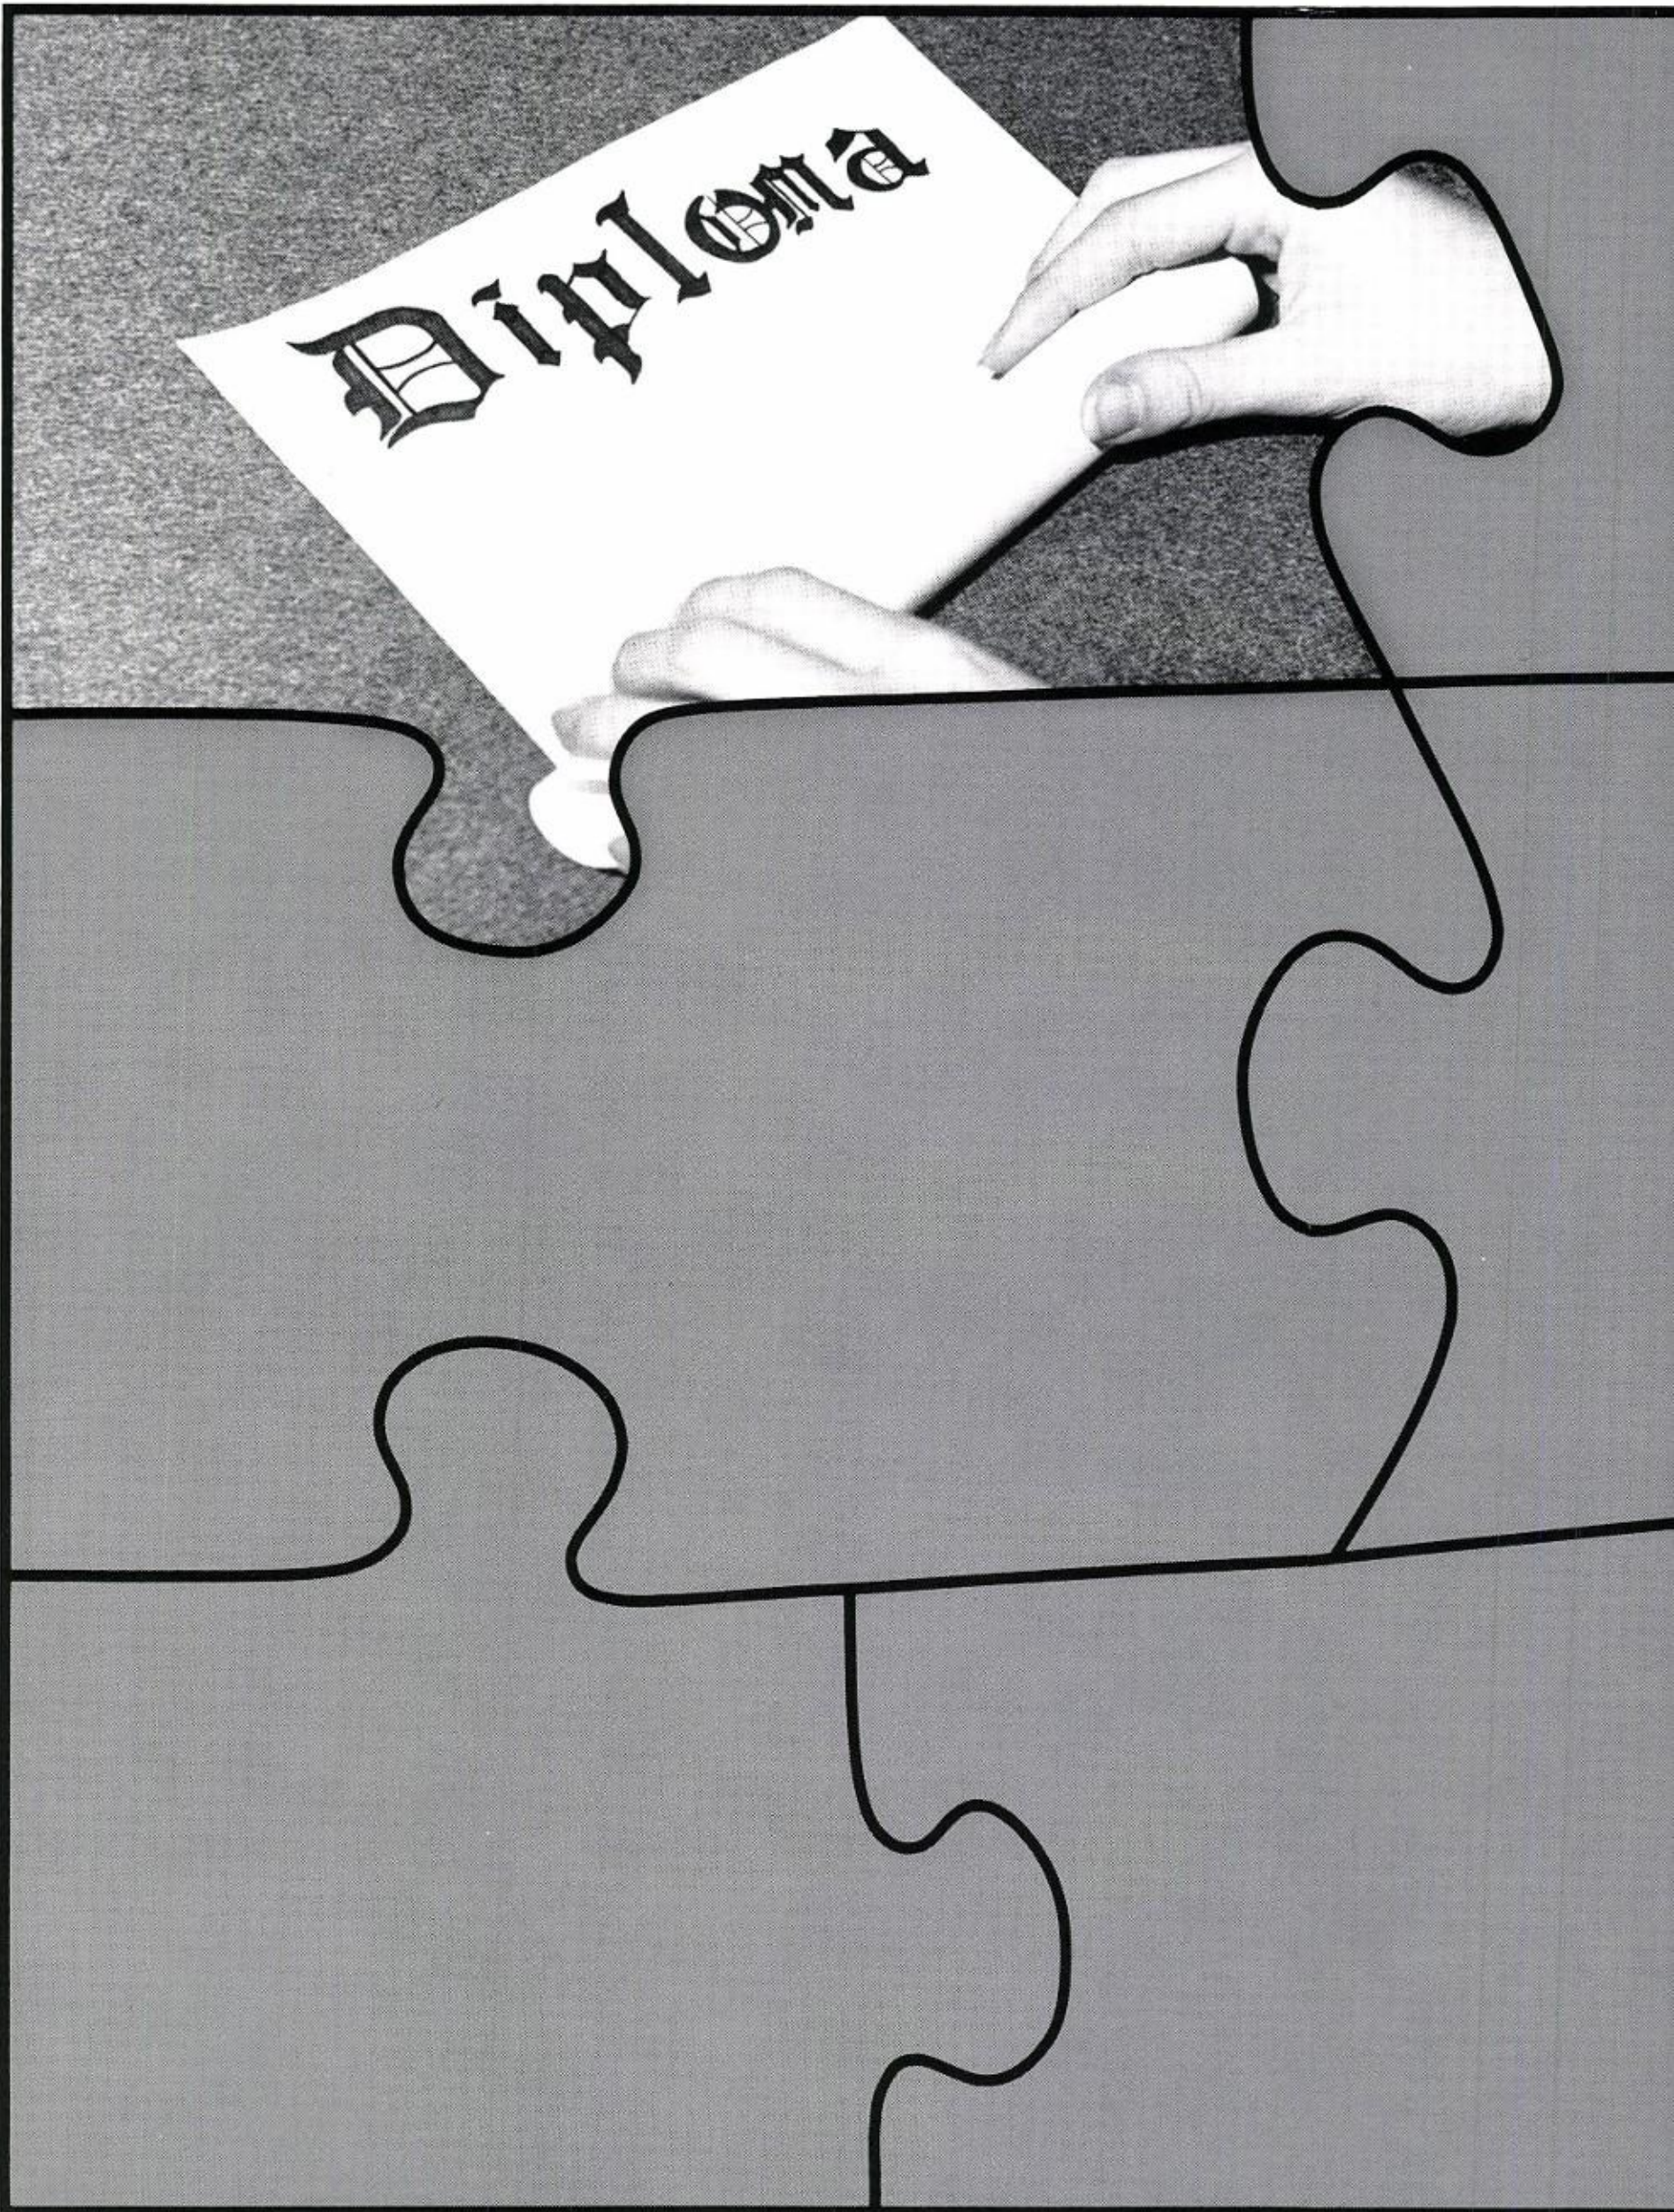

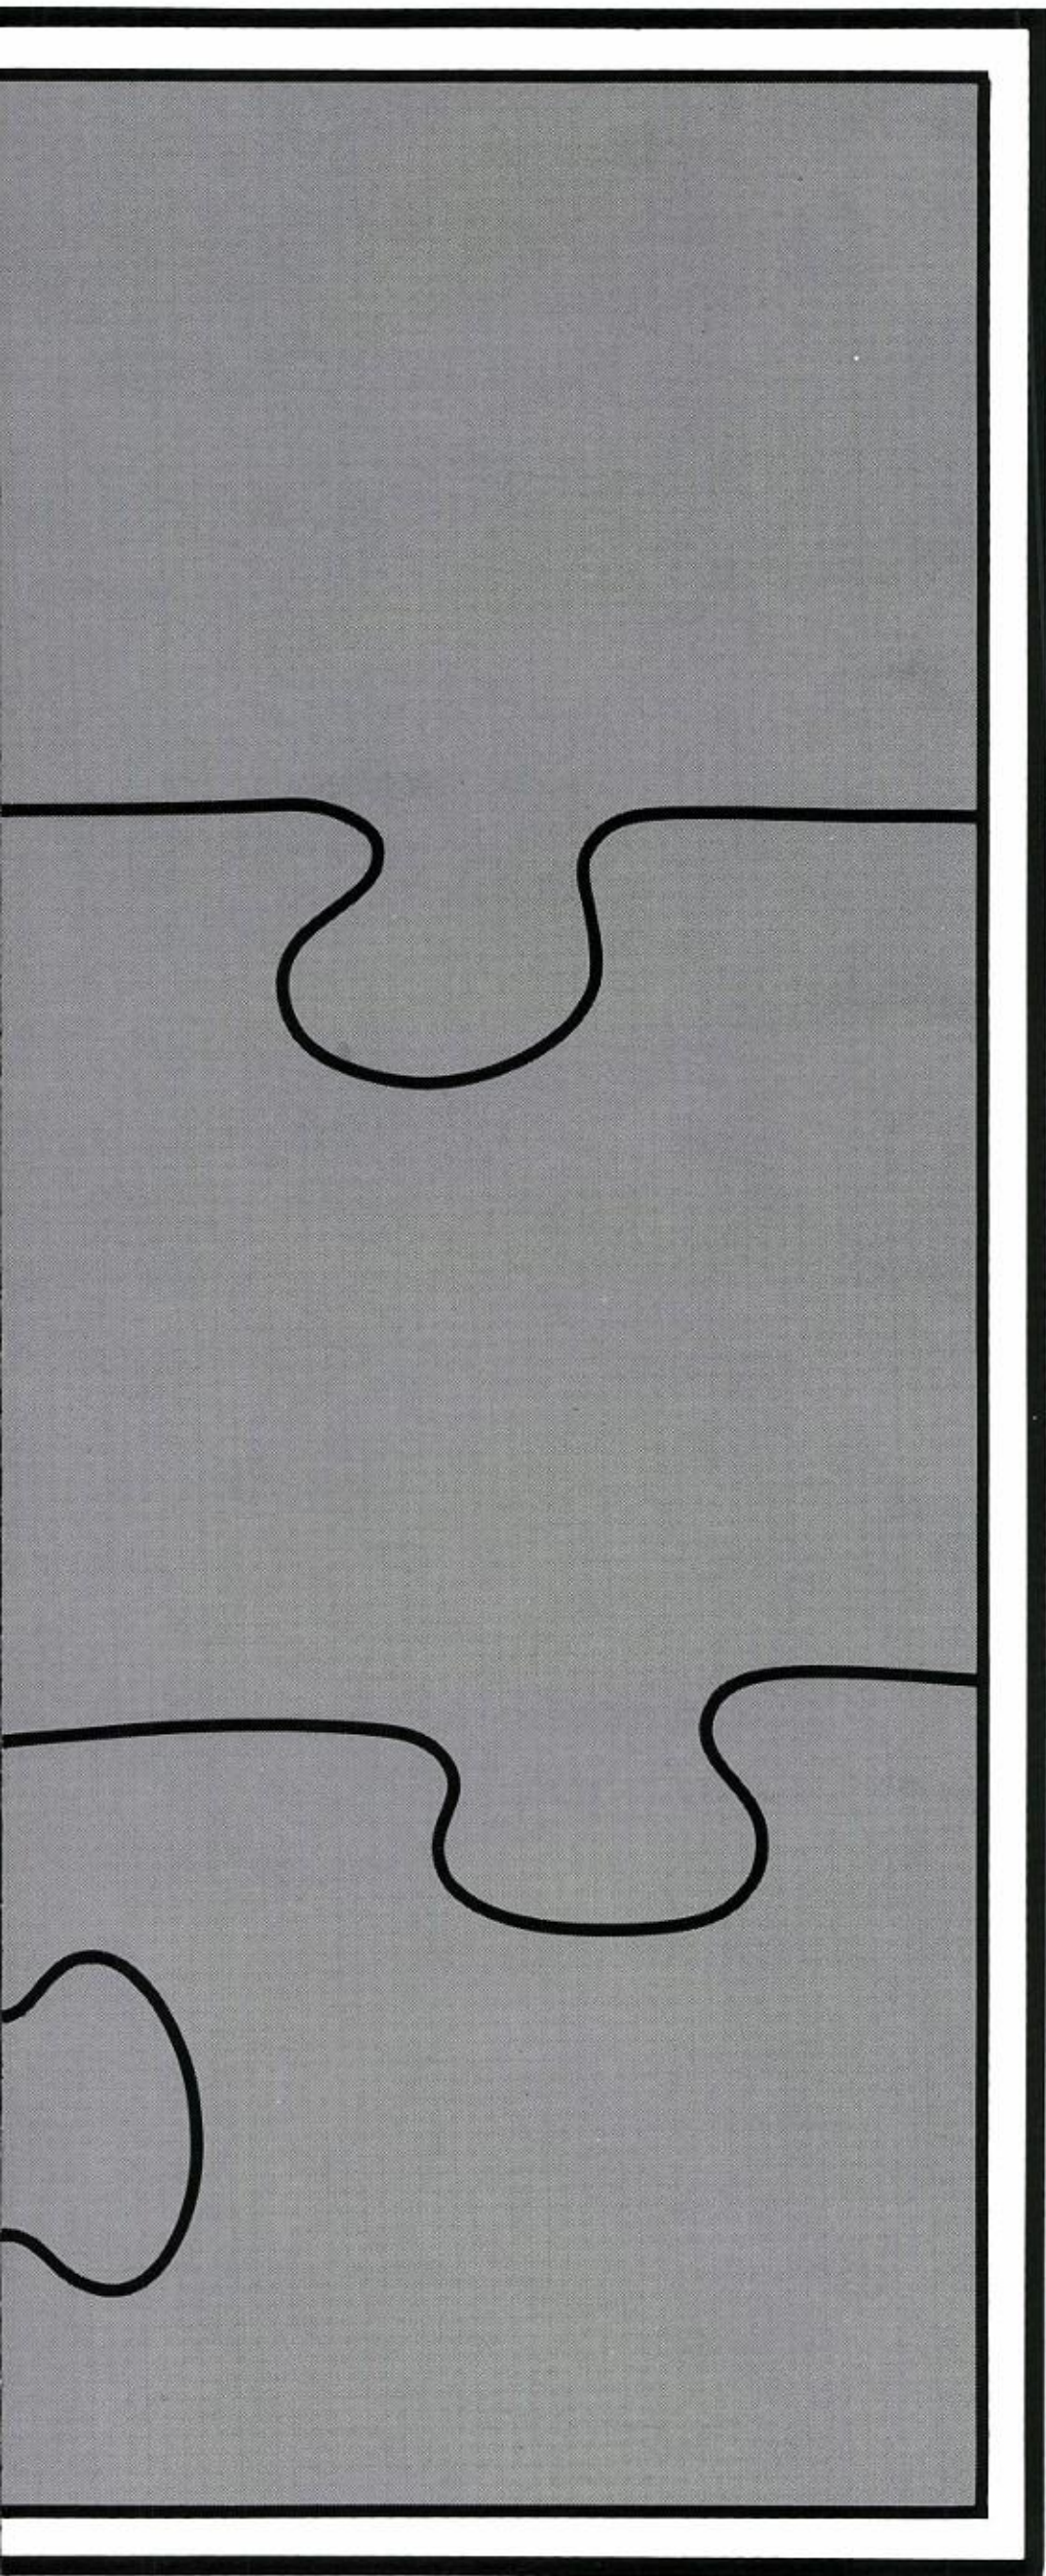

Occasionally, we wonder why we seem to have so many problems to solve, why each time we find a solution, we also find a harder problem. We may want to sit down and just give up, ask, "Why me? Why are there so many problems in my life?"

Perhaps, during those times, we should remember that we are not alone—almost everyone else is struggling with the same feelings, working on the same puzzle. It is important that we help each other find our own solutions. Without challenges, without problems to overcome, we would not be, could not be, human. Problems are a necessary part of us.

OUR FACULTY

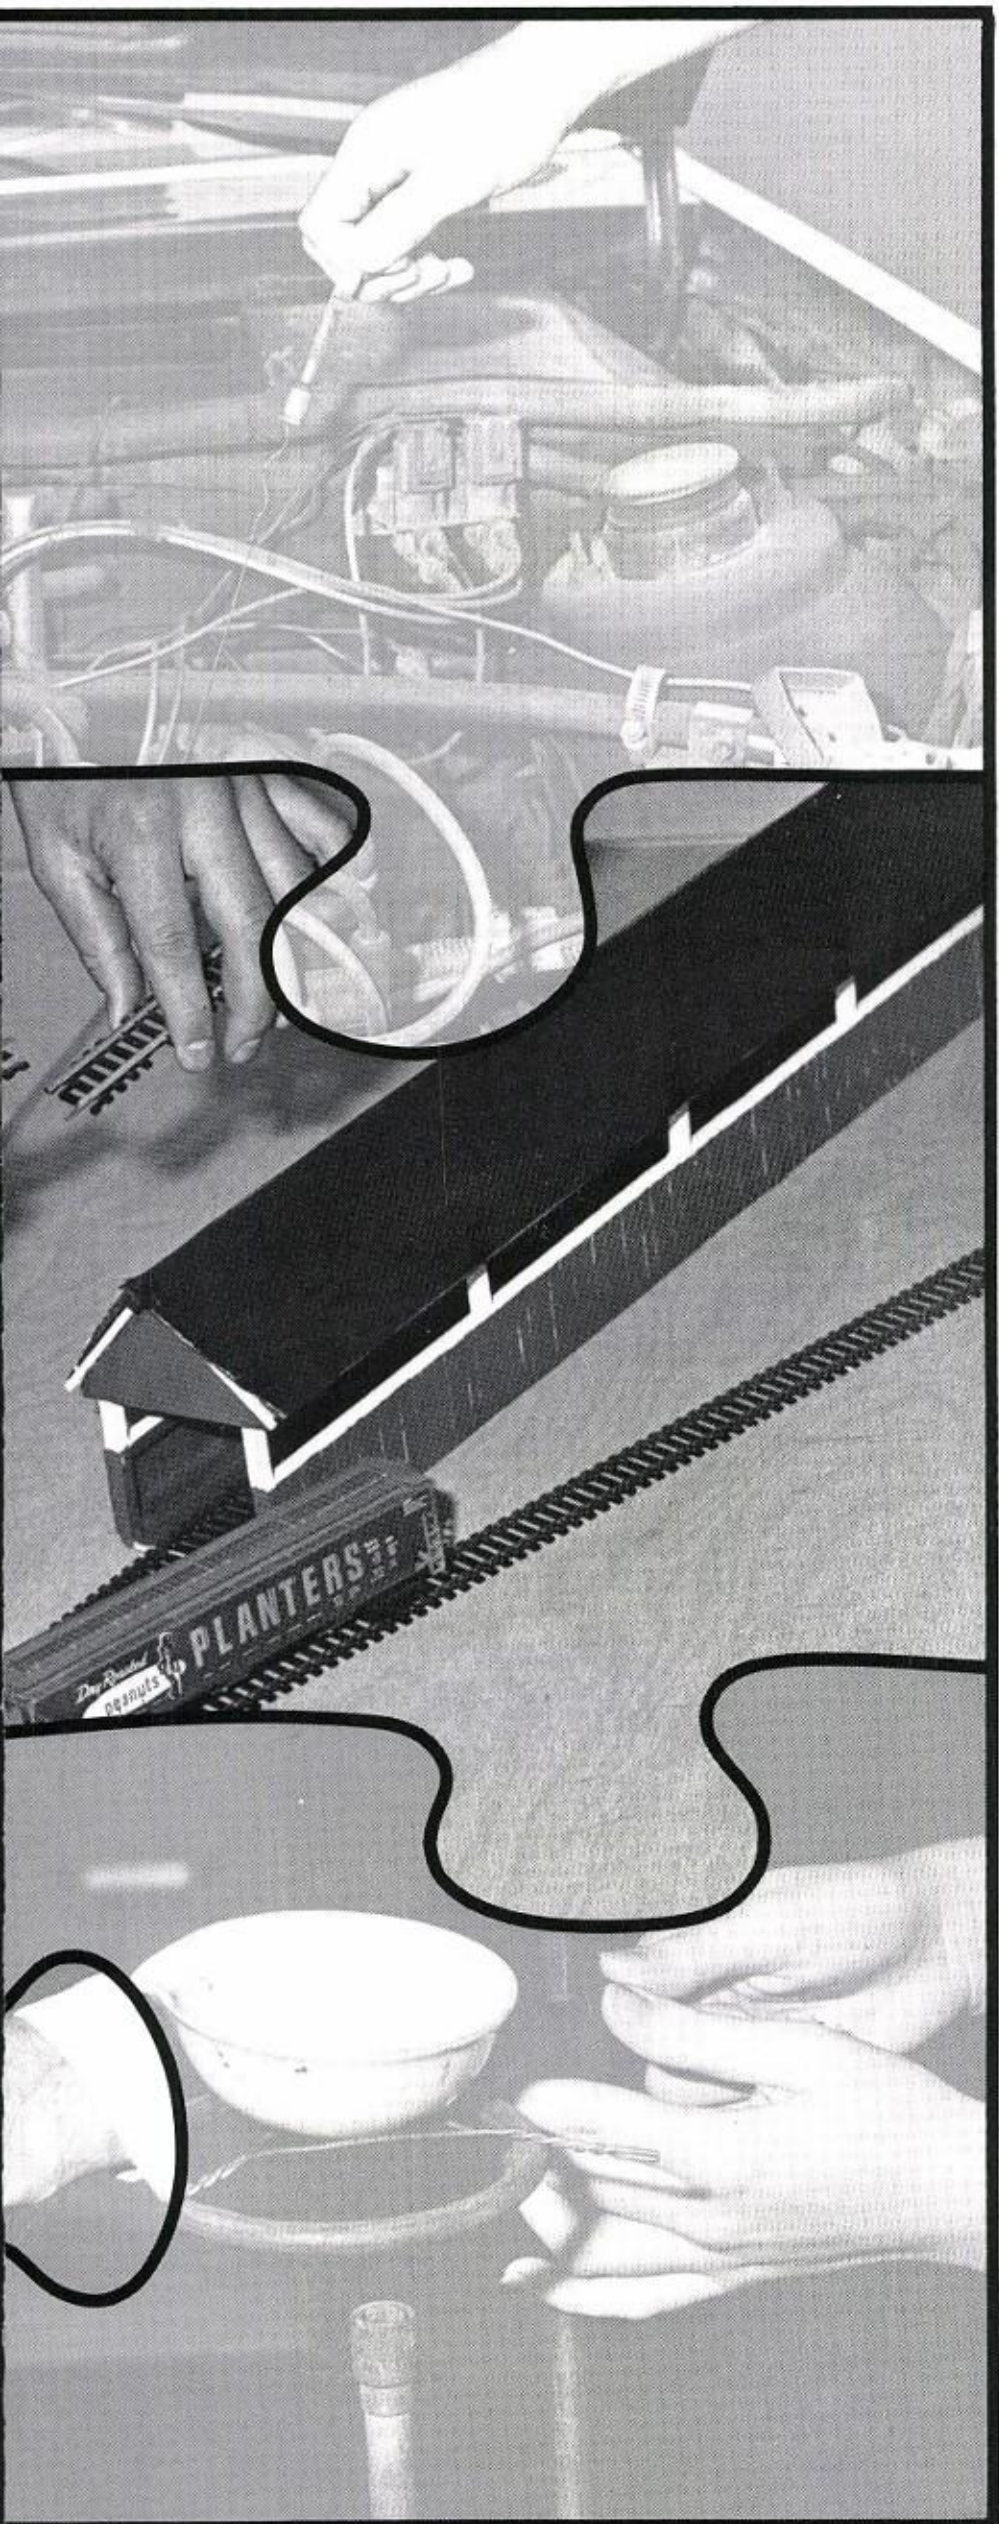

AT ITS BEST

ORCA ANTIZATION

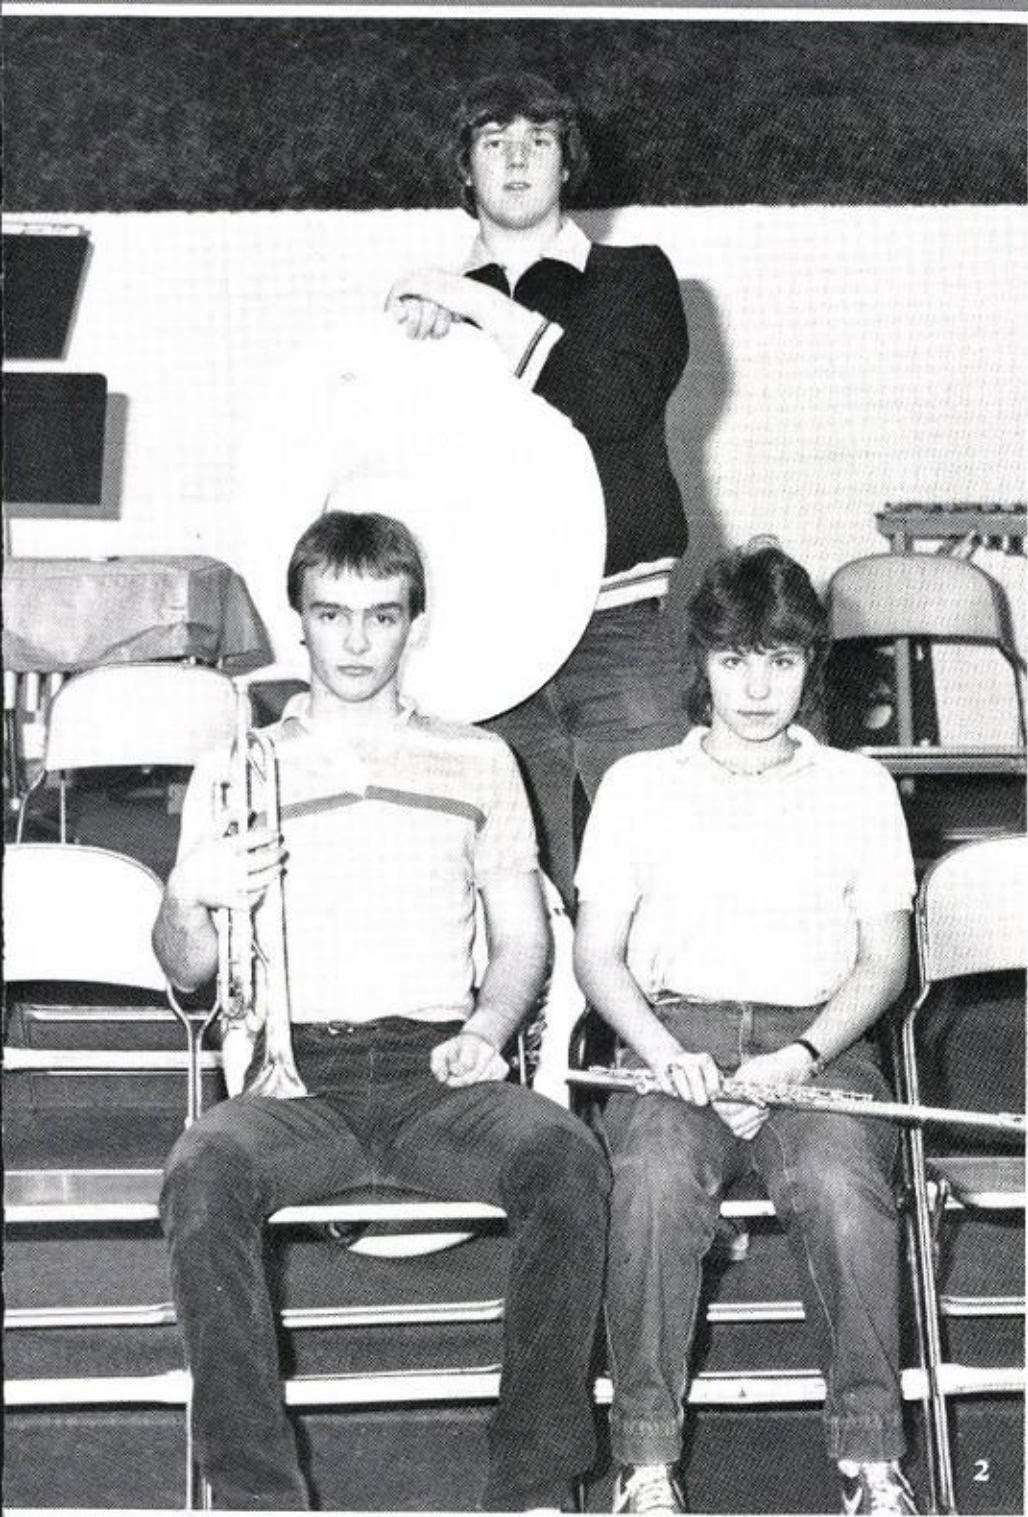

1. AFS—Row 1: Carla Ringer, Erica Bauernmaster, Elena Engleka, Victor Jenkins, Karen Lape, Lisa Conn, Tracy Leskey, LeeAnn Stutzman; Row 2: Shiryl Henry, Heather Schmuck, Tracy Drabish, Sonja Hearn, Katherine Miller, Beth Tinkey, Michele Krebs, Melanie Kreger, Vanessa Younkin, Teresa Enos; Row 3: Kimberly Paquette, Rose King, Kelly Geyer, Lynda Rose.

2. Kathy Miller, Rose King, Kim Paquette, and Victor Jenkins understand that being in AFS involves working as well as having fun.

3. AFS Officers—Teresa Enos, reporter; Tracy Drabish, president; Kelly Geyer, vice-president; Michele Krebs, treasurer; LeeAnn Stutzman, secretary; Victor Jenkins, foreign exchange student.

The American Field Service sell carnations on Valentine's Day to help raise money for activities such as the AFS weekend held in the spring. During the AFS weekend they host ten to twelve students from other schools and countries. The club helps our foreign exchange students become adjusted to the United States and our customs. This year's foreign exchange student is Victor Jenkins from Costa Rica. He is staying with Mr. Fred Costantino.

The band is separated into junior and senior bands. They perform for Christmas and Spring concerts and march at parades throughout the county. The band gives students who play instruments a chance to perform publicly and excel in their talent.

1. Jr. Clarinets—Row 1: Sue Ream, Melissa Brougher, Holly DePhillips, Sue Wright, Kristi Beam, Barb Stutzman; Row 2: Sherry Boucher, Rhonda Putman, Kim Paquette, Rita Barclay, Robin Baker, Talesa Queer; Row 3: Ann Locklin, Bill Stevanus, Lisa Spangler.

Future Business Leaders of America members strive to strengthen their confidence in themselves, develop competent business skills, and practice money management. They try to attain an understanding of American businesses and study how to improve home, business, and community. Their major goal is to be able to make the transition from school to work after graduation.

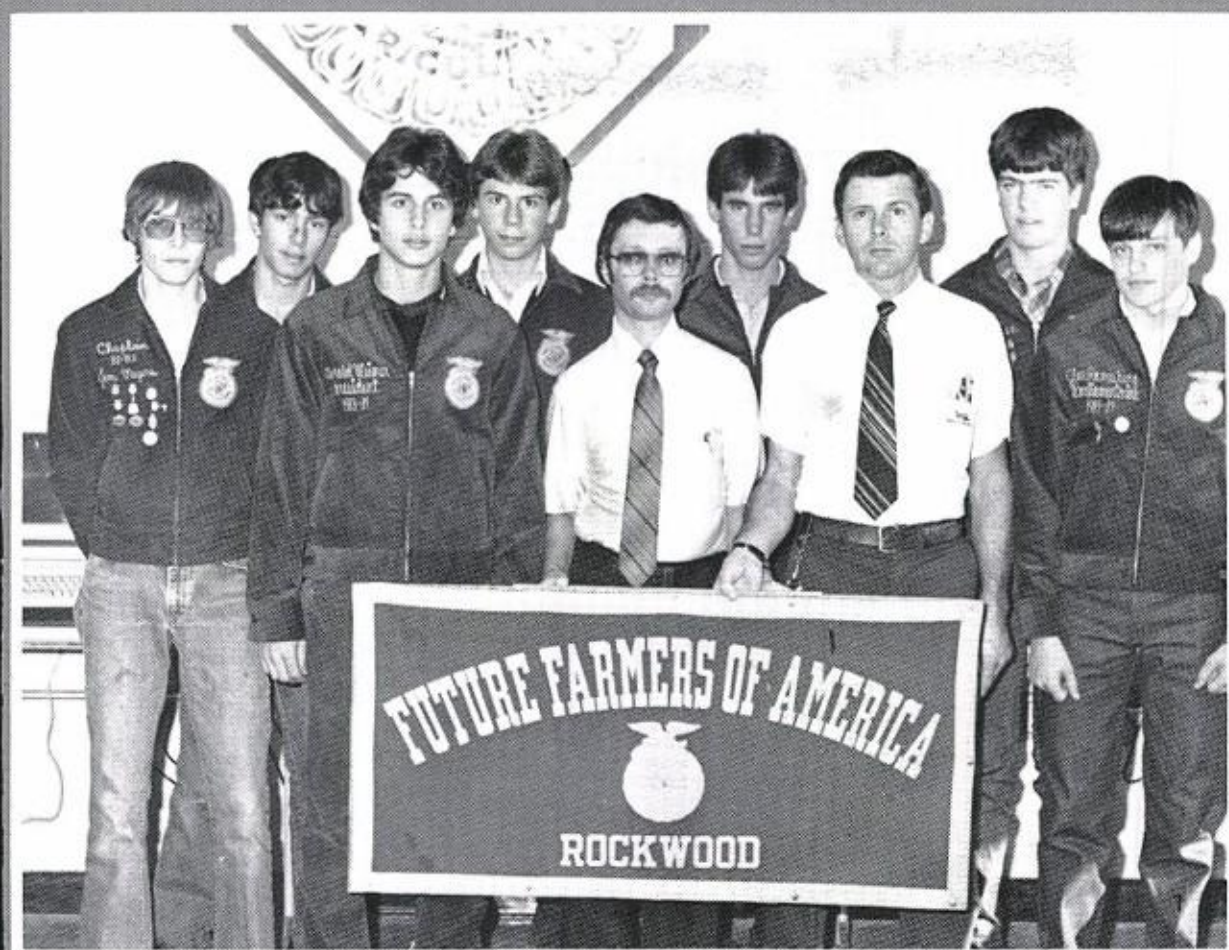

FBLA

An FFA member must be enrolled in an agriculture class and have his own project. Livestock judging, agronomy, and wildlife are a few of the activities they can choose. They sell fruit, wood, and seeds to raise money for supplies, banquets, and field trips. FFA prepares its members for future farming and management occupations.

BYBINTS

SOPHOMORES HONOR SENIORS

This year's Soph-Senior was held in the gym on Friday, November 5, 1983. The theme of the dance was the song "Total Eclipse of the Heart," sung by Bonnie Tyler. The sophomore committee decorated the gym in lilac and gray, the colors for the dance. Sixty-seven couples attended the event and enjoyed dancing to the music played by a D.J. from B-94 FM in Pittsburgh. The dance began at 7 p.m. Light refreshments were served and photographs of the couples were taken by Mr. Dave Greene. The dance concluded at 11 p.m.

1. Darlene Beardmore and date dance the night away.
2. Waiting for a slow dance, Jill Temple and date take life easy.
3. Couples dance during the theme song.
4. Christine Hay and Gerald Weimer dance quietly while Sherri King and Kevin Trowbridge whisper sweet nothings to each other.
5. Anita Bowlby exchanges words with Jennifer Schrock during a fast dance.
6. Miriam Forney and Victor Jenkins spend a quiet evening by themselves.
7. Becky Benford and date enjoy themselves during the Soph-Senior.
8. Amber Reese, Sonja Hearn, and dates fast dance during their favorite song.

SEVEN COMPETE FOR CROWN

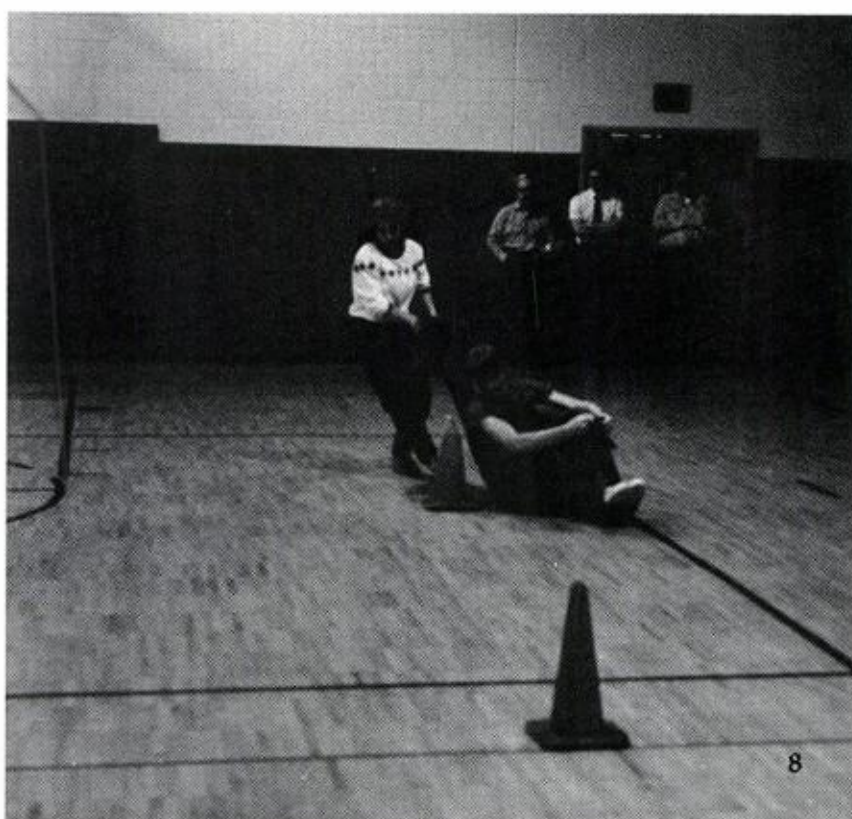

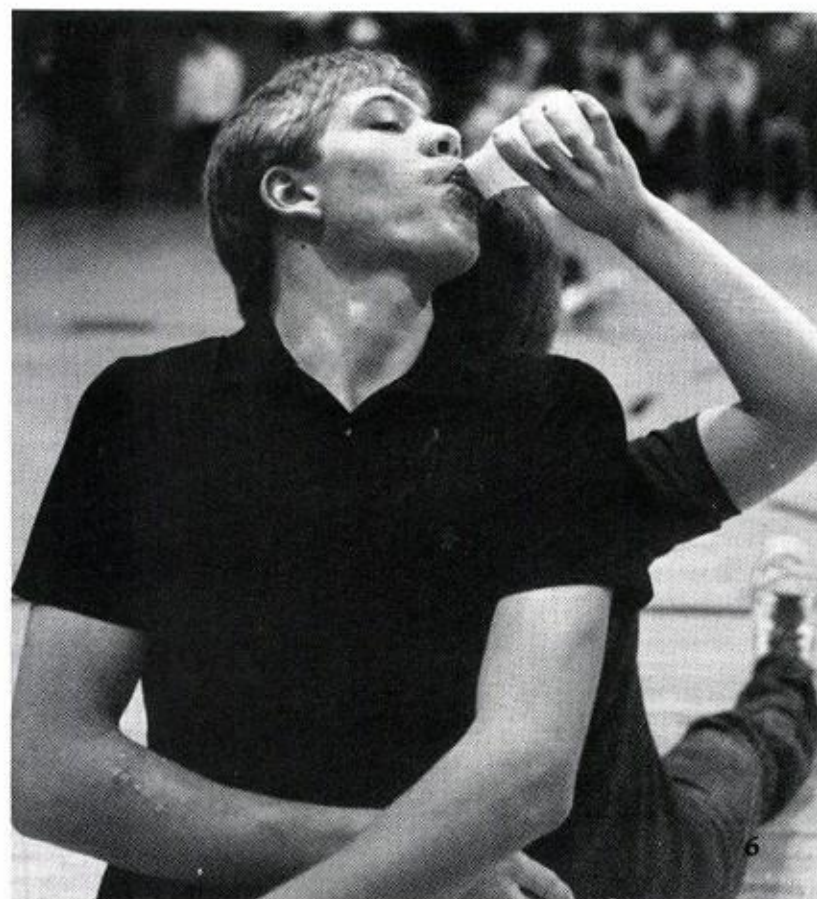

The Rockwood Maple Princess Contest was held on November 17, 1983. The seven contestants performed a variety of talents: Teresa Enos, solo with piano accompaniment; Lori Mognet, pantomime; Lisa Myers, drum solo with piano accompaniment; Tammy Phillippi, baton routine; Laura Rager, oratory; Kim Snyder, Charleston dance routine; and Amy Stahl, monologue and baton routine. The contestants were judged in promenade, talent, personal interview, and question response categories. The first runner-up was Kim Snyder, and Amy Stahl became Maple Princess.

1. Contestants-Kim Snyder, Lisa Myers, Lori Mognet, Amy Stahl, Teresa Enos, Laura Rager, Tammy Phillippi.
2. Winners-Maple Princess Amy Stahl, Runner-up Kim Snyder
3. Teresa Enos sings "Songbird."
4. The "Roaring Twenties" are sweeping Kim Snyder off her feet.
5. Tammy Phillippi concentrates on her baton routine.
6. Lori Mognet "works hard for the money!"
7. "Come one, come all," recites Laura Rager.
8. Lisa Myers creates rhythm throughout the auditorium.

CHRISTMAS FUN

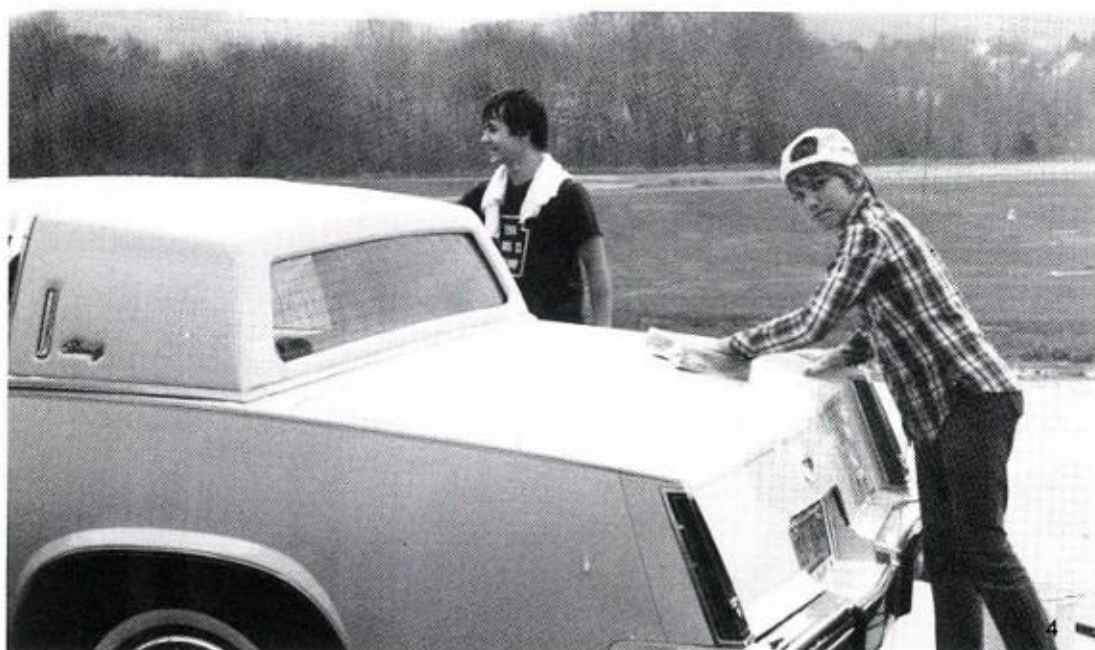

This year's Christmas activities, sponsored by Student Council, were held on December 21st. Students were encouraged to sign up in their homerooms for a variety of funny athletic competitions in the gym. While the sophomores, juniors, and seniors were in the gym, the seventh, eighth, and ninth graders listened to the teachers' choir and saw "The North Avenue Irregulars" in the auditorium. After both activities were finished, the groups switched. Another group of students participated in the Academic competitions sponsored by Mr. Rohlf. Winners of the door decorating contest were given an ice cream and soda party in the cafeteria.

1. Chad Morgan takes advantage of Karyn Peterson's attention as they attempt to pass the orange.
2. Throughout the school, Christmas was shown by the annual door decorating contest.
3. Kelly Geyer and Tracy Phillippi have a good time with the academic Christmas activities.
4. Michelle Hearn and Richie Beahr demonstrate the true form of passing the orange.
5. Rhonda Morgan and Rick Leonard have a good time playing in the toilet paper.

8. The brute strength of Jill Romesberg astonishes Donald Hixson.

FTC SPONSORS HERITAGE DAY

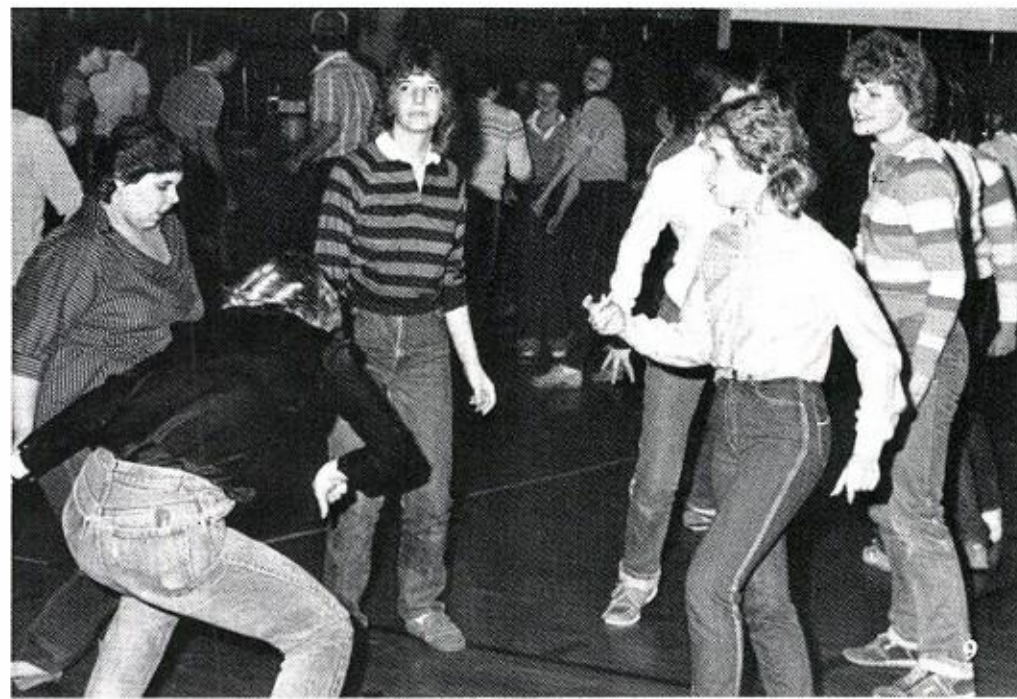

The Foreign Travel Club sponsored Cultural Heritage Day, a new fund-raising project, on Saturday, May 5. The event included a country and western show, a square dance, and an arcade. Visitors could purchase ethnic foods or craft items from people or organizations who rented booths from the club.

1. Kim Snyder peels carrots for the salad bar.
2. A craftswoman displays her goods.
3. Jill Barclay and Jill Younkin are happy to work at the FBLA sundae bar.
4. The Rocket wrestlers sponsor a car wash.
5. Mrs. Emert tends the teachers' booth.
6. The famous FTC signmakers-Heather Miller, Sherry Boucher, Christen Madeira, and Leslie Grimes-are at it again.
7. "Buy a soda or stick-em-up," threatens Leslie Grimes.
8. Mark Phillippi and Doug Benford anxiously await the square dance.
9. Michelle Reffner, Jennifer Schrock, Toby Walker, and Frannie Miller enjoy one another's company.

HOMECOMING DRAWS CROWD

This year's annual Homecoming game was held on January 27 against North Star. At halftime, crowning of the queen was held. The 1984 Homecoming Court consisted of: Karyn Peterson and her escort Chad Morgan, ninth grade; Kelly Putman and her escort Drew Brant, tenth grade; and Suzette Hange and her escort Ron Walker, eleventh grade. The 1984 Homecoming Princesses were Lori Mognet, escorted by Jeff Romesberg, and Amber Reese, escorted by Greg Boucher. Becky Hixson was crowned Rockwood's Fourth Annual Homecoming Queen. She was escorted by John Benford. Stacey Hange was flower bearer; and Benji Furimsky, Jeff Walker, and Trevor Wiley were crown bearers. Kim Peterson and Julie Wahl were the evening's mistresses of ceremonies. Following the game, there were a balloon drop and a homecoming dance.

1. Chad Morgan escorts the freshman attendant, Karyn Peterson.

2. Sophomore attendant Kelly Putman is happy to be escorted by Drew Brant.

3. Junior attendant, Suzette Hange, and her escort, Ron Walker, make a cute couple.

4. Homecoming Court-Row one: Homecoming Queen, Becky Hixson; Row two: First runners up, Amber Reese and Lori Mognet; Row three: Attendants, Karyn Peterson, Kelly Putman, and Suzette Hange.

5. Becky Hixson and her escort, John Benford, dance the Queen's dance.

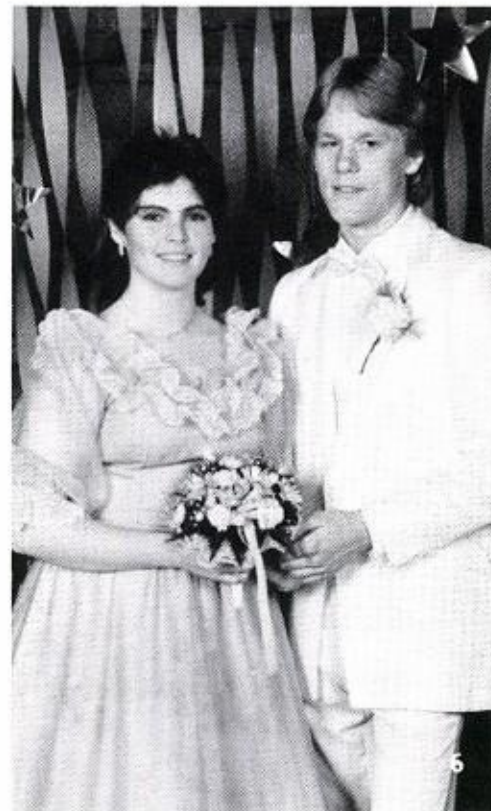

6. Lori Mognet and her escort, Jeff Romesberg, waltz smoothly to the music.

7. Amber Reese and her escort, Greg Boucher, enjoy the first dance of the evening.

8. The first annual Homecoming balloon drop pleases the anxious students.

9. After all the excitement, LeeAnn Stutzman, Melanie Kreger, Karen Lape, and Beth Tinkey finally get to dance!

JUNIORS SPONSOR PROM

This year's Junior-Senior Prom was held on Saturday, May 19th in the Alpine Room at Seven Springs. The colors were pastel rainbow, and the theme was "Tonight I Celebrate My Love," sung by Pee Bo Bryson and Roberta Flack. Couple photographs were taken by Mr. David Greene. The yearbook honors those seniors who attended the 1984 prom, sponsored for them by the junior class.

Dear Hermana.

Rem. all the fun
times we've shared.
Forget the ~~bad~~! Rem.
the night we traded wrestling
pics - All my Windhams, Lowlers,
Richs for All your Von Erichs, MARTELS, TAYLORS, Pipers! Rem. when I caught you shaking the X-mas presents in my room! You Naughty girl. Rem. seeing my Fav. 2 giant Boy George posters! Good Luck in all you do, may you never get eaten by a damn shark or whale. God
Bless - you'll need it.

Luv,
Dawn.
